

Dear Editors,

To ensure the double-blind review, I (author) do not inform these professors that they are my suggested reviewers for the GEMA Online® Journal of Language Studies.

I (author) suggest the following three reviewers (best possible experts).

1. Asst. Prof. Dr. Wannapa Trakulkasemsuk
(One of the Leading Researchers of English in Thailand)

King Mongkut's University of Technology Thonburi

Address: 126 Pracha Uthit Rd, Khwaeng Bang Mot, Khet Thung Khru, Krung Thep Maha Nakhon 10140

Email: wannapa.tra@kmutt.ac.th

Sample publication: Ploywattanawong, P. & Trakulkasemsuk, W. (2014). Attitudes of Thai Graduates toward English as a Lingua Franca of ASEAN. Asian Englishes, 16 (2), 141-156.
– Routledge, Taylor & Francis Group

2. Dr. Araya Palachot
(Immediate Past Dean of School of Education – Thailand's leading faculty to provide teacher-education programs for early childhood teachers)

Suan Sunandha Rajabhat University

Address: 1 Thanon U Thong Nok, Wachira Phayaban, Khet Dusit, Bangkok 10300, Thailand

Email: araya3722@hotmail.com

3. Dr. Dipika Mukherjee, Equality Development and Globalization Studies Faculty Associate, Roberta Buffett Center for International Studies
(One of the Leading Researchers of Sociolinguistics of Overseas Bengali Community)

Northwestern University

Address: 633 Clark St, Evanston, IL 60208, USA

Email: dipikamukherjee@yahoo.com

Sample publication: Mukherjee, D. (2003). Role of Women in Language Maintenance and Language Shift: Focus on the Bengali Community in Malaysia. International Journal of the Sociology of Language 161, 103-120.