Dear Professor,

I would like to submit a manuscript entitled “A rare case of cervical embryonal Rhabdomyosarcoma in an Adolescent - A case report” by Leek Mei Lim to be considered for publication as a case report in the Journal of Surgical Academia.

Since the rarity of primary cervical embryonal rhabdomyosarcoma in adolescent, there is no standard management or any single institution that has adequate experience to offer superior management strategies, hence we believe that sharing our case and results of our literature review would help in understanding further the characteristics of this disease and hence improve the management. We believe these findings will be of interest to the readers of your journal.

We declare that this manuscript is original, has not been published before and is not currently being considered for publication elsewhere.

We know of no conflicts of interest associated with this publication, and there has been no significant financial support for this work that could have influenced its outcome. As the Corresponding Author, I confirmed that the manuscript has been read and approved for submission by all the named authors.

We hope you find our manuscript suitable for publication and look forward to hearing from you in due course.

Sincerely,

Dr Leek Mei Lim
